

Our Shared Values

These incredible books written by Aunty Fay Muir and Sue Lawson are part of the 'Our Place' Series. They explore First Nations philosophies, covering big ideas in relevant, visually stunning ways.

Using one or all of these books explore the values of respect, family (community) and sharing. These titles are the perfect hook to draw students into developing shared values in the classroom. After reading Sharing, Respect and/or Family as a class, invite students to complete the following activity sheet in groups of three. Discuss responses as a whole class.

Growing our values together

Respect

How can we show respect towards ourselves and each other?

Community

How can we create a community of learners together?

Add another value which is important to your group.

Sharing

What does sharing look like in our classroom?
